NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—There was a consequence of the second received for the second received for the second received for the second received for the second for the s of nearly 2 points. Missouri Pacific v marked up at one time to St. but fell by below St in the sharpest reaction of day.

Still later there was a movement in tobacco stocks, which carried Continen and American Tobacco up 3 points. Thesee Coul 4½ and General Electric: But the general disposition to realize pits and the rather aggressive mood of bears frustrated all the attempts to vance the market. The rather viol break in St. Paul of 4½ points at the oping had a decidedly disturbing effect speculative sentiment, and some of other stocks which have been the subjoint in vast new consolidations were a quite acutely affected.

The repeated disclaimers of the flucters concerned of many of the stor which have circulated regarding the combinations have been totally disgarded heretofore by the speculative ement, but somthing like conviction version, but somthing like conviction where the upon them to-day, and while belief was unaffected that something vimportant had been going on in St. P and in other railroad quarters, the spellators awake to the realization that claborate details published from time time were based on very filmsy eviden and that they did not know much about pressing their advantage. This ement is so carger to discount the expression that they do not know much about pressing their advantage. This count is so carger to discount the expectence of persistant short interest is a material from the extreme leve point.

COTTON MARKETS. COTTON MARKETS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—COTTON—Considering the meagreness of speculation, the cotton market to-day made some pretty fair fluctuations without, however, showing any material net changes. The opening was steady, with prices if points higher to 1 point lower, and for a brief period held the advance on support from shorts who took pronts. But the cables from Liverpool were bearish, while the movements South failed to keep within the figures estimated.

rrom Liverpool were bearish, while the movements South falled to Keep within the ngures estimated.

Liquidation soon gained precedence and prices slowly tell away until a net loss of 0 points was in evidence. For the rest of the forencon the market was feeble and to all outward appearances destitate of recuperative energy. Yet immediately following the noon hour the rumor that to-morrow's receipts would fall far below the figures expected started covering, which grew rapidly when New Orleans buying orders came in fair numbers.

The appearance of the official estimates from New Orleans and Houston confirmed the rumor and gave the market additional strength, while at the same time stimulating buying for a rise. During the rest of the afternoon the fluctuations in prices were small and not specially indicative of bull or bear aggression.

The close was quiet and steady, with prices 1 to 8 points higher.

with the question. We can afford to take no step backward, and I shall never vote to help or hurt the chances of any candidate for office, by doing away with plan which was inaugurated years ago as a reform in the matter of allowing the people the widest possible scope in expressing their wishes on such matters." These view, are held by a decided majority of the committee, and the voters may feel assured that there will be every opportunity afforded them to give the freest expression of their preference or the gubernatorial question, WANT MR. ELLYSON.

WANT MR. ELLYSON.
It developed yesterday that the friends of Hon. J. Taylor Ellyson will insist upon his standing for delegate to the Constitutional Convention from this city.
Should Mr. Ellyson consent to serve, he would easily be elected as one of the repre entatives from Richmond. It is generally conceded that he would be one of he most valuable men Virginia could have in the convention. An interesting little story is told of a party of young Democrats in a nearby southside town, who gathered during the tiol days to spend an evening "under the soft glow of the chandeller and the mel-low warmit of the wine." When the night was growing old, the jolly party—which was composed of about twenty-five bright young men-decided to resolve itself into a Democratic State Con-vention, and to nominate a candidate for

Governo MONTAGUE WON OUT.

MONTAGUE WON OUT.

This was done, and the temporary and permanent organization being perfected in a highly parliamentary manner, nomideclared to be in order. All the leading aspirants for the honor had friends in the body, and a trandsome young man with clean-cut features and the look of a statesman, came forward and presented the name of Congressman Swanson in a highly ornate address. He was followed by another, who eloquently champloned the cause of Attorney-General Montague, the last speech being made by the floor lead-of Lieutenant-Governor Echols.

After a number of secondary speeches, the balloting commenced, Montague lead-ing, with Swanson next and Echols third. Finally, under the rules, the lowest candidate was dropped, and Mr. Echols' vote being divided, Mr. Montague was de-clared the nomines. Before the final vote could be announced, however, the Swan-son leader sprang to his feet and moved to make the nomination of Mr. Montague unanimous, which was done with a whoop. Then, without further formalities, the body adjourned sine die.

The Present Incumbent Recommends An Increase-

NOT ADEQUATE FOR POSITION.

Governor Russell Says it Brings the Chief Executive Who Fills it in Debt-Aycock's Inauguration Will Be a Great Event.

(Special Dispatch to The Times.)

RALEIGH, N. C., Jan. 10.—The message of Governor D. L. Russell to the General Assembly was transmitted to that body at noon to-day. It is a lengthy document consisting of 15 type-written pages. The Governor recommends the establishment of a reformatory and the removal of the criminal insane from the State prison to the State asylums.

SALARY INADEQUATE.

removal of the criminal insane from the State prison to the State asylums.

SALARY INADEQUATE.

The Governor's salary, the message asserts, is not adequate to the needs and environments of the Chief Executive officer of the State, and serious pecuniary loss is necessarily sustained by a man who gives up his personal business earnings to accept the office at $3.600 per year. He recommends that an act be passed before the 15th instant increasing the salary, as it could not be done after Governor Aycock is inaugurated, owing to Constitutional prohibition of an increase during the term of a Governor who would benefit by the increase.

Other recommendations by the Governor are for the establishment of a code commission and "a change of the State election law so that every elector can vote and have his vote counted."

AYCOCK'S INAUGURATION.

The official programme for the inauguration of Goernor Aycock next Tuesday has been completed. There will be a great military and civic pirade. The inaugural ceremonies will take place on the west side of the Capitol if the weather is good, and in case of rain in the Academy of Music. The oath of office will be administered by Judge Walter Clark, of the Supreme Court. A Legislative Committee has been appointed to go to Goldsboro and escort Governor-elect Aycock to Raleigh on the day of the inauguration.

Indications are that Raleigh, Durham, Greensboro or Winston-Salem, in North Carolina, and Richmond, Danville, Norfolk, Portsmouth and Newport News will have teams in the league.
